Acuario Cósmico Announce Second Album – First Single “Thank You” Out Now

Berlin, May 2025 – Berlin-based band Acuario Cósmico returns with new music: Their latest single “Thank You” sets the tone for the internationally rooted trio’s second studio album, to be released on June 21, 2025. More than just a musical statement, this album reflects a journey of emotional healing and artistic realignment.

Originally formed in Buenos Aires by Argentine frontman Gonzalo ‘Gong’ Marinucci, the band is now based in Berlin – channeling the raw energy of South America’s underground scene into the European music landscape. Together with Michael ‘Mörk’ Merkt on bass and Jonathan ‘Jo’ Boudevin on drums, Acuario Cósmico creates a sound that resonates, moves, and connects.

Following their debut album and a series of dynamic live performances – including shows at the SUSI Sommerfest in Freiburg and OBOA Festival in Brandenburg – the band now returns with an album that’s more than a collection of songs. It’s a carefully crafted piece of art, designed to be experienced from beginning to end – or even in reverse.

The journey – A time for reflection, change, and real music. There’s a reason for the long pause between albums. It was a conscious choice: the band took time to question their direction – singles, EPs, or a full-length album? Then the pandemic hit. Everything stopped. Life changed. Personal questions arose. Only after this period of deep reflection was the band ready to refocus on their music – with new clarity and purpose.

“This album had to happen,” says Gonzalo. “It marks a new chapter – for me personally, and for us as a band. It’s a clear commitment to what connects and drives us.”

An album full of frequency, feeling, and meaning: This new record is a love letter to live, human-made music. Music with soul. Played with real instruments, by real people – full of dynamics, melody, and resonance you can feel. Gonzalo places great importance on authenticity: wood, strings, analog pickups – true vibrations and frequencies that carry emotion.

In a world that often feels artificial and disconnected, Acuario Cósmico sees itself as a musical counterpoint – offering an authentic sound, emotional depth, and a heartfelt desire to share love. Their music becomes a home for anyone who longs for truth, warmth, and connection.

With “Thank You”, Acuario Cósmico offers a first glimpse into the upcoming album. A song of gratitude, release, and new beginnings.

The full album will be released on June 21, 2025 – a symbolic date: the summer solstice, the longest day of the year, celebrating light, renewal, and joy.
